WALL-MOUNTED FAUCETS DIFFERENTIATE LUXURY LAVATORIES

ROHL Country Bath Collection: A1418 & A1423

Most bathrooms typically call for countertop-mounted faucets in a centerset or widespread configuration. However, a wall-mounted lavatory faucet adds character, reflecting a homeowner's personal sense of style. Two new wall-mounted faucet options from the ROHL Country Bath Collection deliver exciting design opportunities.

The A1418 presents a new interpretation of ROHL's highly popular arched bridge style faucet. This classic column spout design delivers luxury and sophistication with a twist of country flair. Scaled for the bath, it stands approximately 7-1/2" tall with a 6-1/2" spout reach.

Perhaps a new adaptation of the classic C-spout bridge mixer is desired. ROHL's A1423 exhibits a retro-inspired low rising shape that fits many types of décor. Its swivel spout boasts a generous 9-1/4" spout reach and meticulous detailing adds a perfect touch of character.

Both are ideal for use with above counter or partially submerged vessel bowls, or with cabinet style vanities. Four handle styles (metal, porcelain and Swarovski crystal levers or metal cross handles) plus five finishes (Polished Chrome, Polished Nickel, Satin Nickel, Tuscan Brass, Inca Brass) give end-users 20 choices of different combinations. Each faucet comes with a remotely operated pop-up, expertly-engineered quarter-turn ceramic disc handles and 1/2" NPT connections. Made in Italy exclusively for ROHL, both faucets meet American plumbing standards. Coordinating accessories from towel bars to robe hooks complete the package for a coordinated presentation.
